ABSTRACT

Intended for administrators, researchers, teachers, personnel trainers, and advocates whose major concern is the provision of services to exceptional children and youth, the manual provides information for identifying and accessing relevant sources of federal funding. Section I consists of matrixes divided into seven areas of interest: administration/governance; health/mental health/nutrition; minority; training; supplemental services; research and development; and career/vocational education. Information in the matrixes is provided to facilitate the selection of federal programs which may be appropriate funding sources. Each matrix specifies program title, catalog number, exceptionality, eligible applicant, major focus, educational level, a cross reference to any other area of interest in which the specific program might be found, and specific needs descriptors. Each matrix combines specific applicant needs (e.g., diagnostic/placement or parent/family services) with various program requirements (e.g., major focus, exceptionality) for each of the federal programs. Section II lists over 100 individual federal programs relating to the provision of education and services for exceptional individuals. Program descriptions, which are listed in numerical order according to "Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance" number, include a listing of the federal agency involved, the program title and contact information, the population served, program objectives, uses and use restrictions, types of assistance, and application procedures. The introduction explains the use of the manual. (Author/SBH)

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Diane L. Goltz, Ph.D., is presently the coordinator for special education for the Department of Defense Overseas Dependents Schools. Dr. Goltz received her doctorate at the University of Oklahoma in the fields of administration and student personnel services with related fields of human relations and guidance and counseling.

Michael M. Behrmann, Ed.D., is presently an assistant professor of education at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia. Dr. Behrmann received his doctorate in Special Education Administration and Crippled and Other Health Impaired from Teachers College, Columbia University.

Dr. Goltz and Dr. Behrmann developed Getting the Buck to Stop Here while they were participants in the University of Maryland's College Park Professional Leadership Program. Their respective assignments were to The Council for Exceptional Children and the American Educational Research Association.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The authors wish to express their gratitude to the Governmental Relations Unit of The Council for Exceptional Children and the Governmental and Professional Liaison Unit at the American Educational Research Association for their support and input into Getting the Buck to Stop Here: A Guide to Federal Resources for Special Needs. We specifically wish to thank Fred Weintraub, Joseph Ballard, and Scottie Higgins for their foresight in seeing the need to provide access to a broader and more diverse array of Federal funding programs appropriate for exceptional individuals than has traditionally been utilized. We would also like to thank David Florio for his support and perception that this manual would be valuable for researchers and general educators in addition to those serving exceptional populations.

With the support of CEC Governmental Relations Unit staff, Joel Corley did the groundwork for the development of the present manual. His work enabled the authors to conceptualize and develop the present format, leading to the attainment of those goals originally established by the Governmental Relations Unit.

Our special thanks to Karen, Alice, Carolyn, and Gigi, without whom the tedium would have taken us under.

INTRODUCTION

Getting the Buck to Stop Here was developed in response to the need for information about the vast array of Federal resources that are available to assist schools, individuals, colleges and universities, and other agencies and organizations in meeting the challenge of providing exceptional children and youth a free appropriate public education. As programs for the education of handicapped and gifted/talented children and youth continue to grow, they strain increasingly limited State and local educational resources. While the Federal government's most visible financial aid programs for these children, Public Law 94-142, the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975, and Public Law 95-561, the Gifted and Talented Children's Act of 1978, have increased significantly in recent years, other Federal resources are potentially an even greater resource.

This manual was developed to help individuals identify and access relevant sources of Federal funding. The major objective of the manual is to provide a simple mechanism which allows prospective applicants a choice of a wider range of Federal programs to meet the needs of exceptional individuals. Since the process of obtaining Federal assistance for services to exceptional individuals is often time consuming and/or requires knowledge of a variety of programs and government agencies, the manual is intended to facilitate the selection of appropriate programs which might not ordinarily be considered by prospective applicants.

As we looked at the use of Federal resources around the country, we found that creative people are already utilizing many of them. Examples of such use include:

- Diagnostic services supported through health funds such as EPSDT (Early Periodic Screening Diagnosis and Testing).

- Vocational assessments provided in conjunction with vocational rehabilitation.
- Parent surrogates provided by VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America).
- Special language programs supported by bilingual education.
- Research studies financed by the National Institute for Mental Health.
- Arts and cultural development supported by the National Endowments for the Arts and Humanities.
- Curriculum development supported by the National Science Foundation.
- Work training supported by CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act).

These examples are only illustrative. Much more is occurring and even more can be achieved, as this manual will demonstrate. While historically many of the agencies that govern these programs were reluctant to support efforts for exceptional children and youth, growing legal pressures and public interest are bringing about a greater willingness for cooperation.

This manual is designed primarily to be used by administrators, researchers, teachers, personnel trainers, and advocates, whose major concern is the provision of services to exceptional children and youth. Parents and exceptional consumers may also use the manual to locate appropriate funding sources for individual and family assistance. Because the manual includes many Federal assistance programs which are not exclusively focused on exceptional individuals, it can also prove useful to individuals interested in obtaining funds with respect to other populations.

Information included in the manual is synthesized from the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance[1] and selected interviews. The catalog number is included in each program description to allow the reader to refer to the original documents for more detailed information. Divided into two major sections, the manual is designed to provide easy access to programs which may relate to a set of particular needs for funding in the area of education and related services for exceptional individuals.

Section I of the manual consists of a series of matrices divided into seven areas of interest: Administration/Governance; Health/Mental Health/ Nutrition; Minority; Training; Supplemental Services; Research and Development; and Career/Vocational Education. Information in the matrices is provided to facilitate the selection of Federal programs which may be appropriate funding sources. However, some of the information was subject to the authors' interpretation, and before applying to any program, prospective applicants should obtain complete and up to date information from the contact sources provided in the individual program descriptions. Each matrix specifies Program Title, Catalog Number, Exceptionality, Eligible Applicant, Major Focus, Educational Level, a Cross Reference to any other area of interest in which the specific program might be found, and Specific Needs Descriptors (refer to the Glossary for a complete listing of descriptors and related definitions). Each matrix combines specific applicant needs (e.g., Diagnostic/Placement or Parent/Family Services) with various program requirements (e.g., Major Focus, Exceptionality) for each of the Federal programs. Examples of how to use the matrices will follow.

Section II of the manual, Program Descriptions, presents the 100+ individual Federal programs relating to the provision of education and services for exceptional individuals. Condensed from information in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, these programs are listed in numerical order according to their catalog number. Each program description also includes a listing of the Federal agency involved, the program title and contact information, the population served, program objectives, uses and use restrictions, types of assistance, and application procedures. An example of a program description follows each of the two examples illustrating use of the matrices.

Example 1

A school district administrator is looking for program funds to develop a special education program for migrant handicapped children.

Step 1: The administrator turns to the matrix labeled MINORITY.

Step 2: Go to the specific needs descriptors under Migrants and Curriculum/Basic Skills, moving down the page under these headings and then to the center checking program titles and noting all catalog numbers for those programs deemed most appropriate. The first program checked under Curriculum/Basic Skills is 13.403, Bilingual Education. This program would be noted only at the administrator's discretion. The following programs are examples of what may appear on his/her list: 13.429, Educationally Deprived Children-Migrants; 13.512, Educationally Deprived Children-Special Incentive Grants; and 13.589, Emergency School Aid Act-Magnet Schools.

Step 3: Look at the center of the matrix, matching the catalog numbers that have been found under the specific needs descriptor in Step 2, and then examine the categories Educational Level, Exceptionality, Applicant, and Major Focus by moving down the columns to see if any of these programs are appropriate. The administrator selects 13.429.

NOTE: The other two programs listed in Step 2 (13.512 and 13.589) require SEA as applicant; however, many of these programs require a State Plan and the state administers program funds for the LEA. Thus, an inquiry and application to the State may be warranted.

Step 4: The administrator turns to the Program Description for 13.429 contained in Section II of the manual. The other two possible programs (13.512 and 13.589) may also be examined in Section II.

Step 5: Alternative descriptors which might fit this population (migrant children) may provide information concerning other programs for which the administrator may want to apply. Examples of such descriptors include Low Income, Instruction, Health Services, etc.

Program Description Example

The program selected in Example 1, 13.429, Educationally Deprived Children-Migrants, is described in Section II of the manual as follows:

FEDERAL AGENCY: HEW-Office of Education

Catalogue number: 13.429

PROGRAM TITLE: Educationally Deprived Children-Migrants

Contact: Chief, Migrant Programs Board
Division of Education for the Disadvantaged
Bureau of Elementary and Secondary Education
7th and D Sts., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20202
Telephone: 202-245-2427

POPULATION

Children of migratory agricultural workers or of migratory fishermen.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To expand and improve educational programs to meet the special needs of children of migratory agricultural workers or of migratory fishermen.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Program funds are used to identify and meet specific needs of migrant children through remedial instruction, health, nutrition, psychological services, cultural development, and prevocational training and counseling. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered suitable for joint funding with closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. For programs that are not identified as suitable for joint funding, the applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Formula grants
Average Financial Assistance not determined.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

SEA's, States that provide educational services to children of migratory agricultural workers or migratory fishermen may apply for access to this program. SEA's submit their migrant education plan and cost estimate to the Office of Education for approval. The standard application forms as furnished by the Federal agency and required by FMC 74-7 must be used for this program.

Example 2

A large city education administrator is looking for program funds to supplement local science programs providing for the special educational needs of the gifted and talented students of his city.

Step 1: The director turns to the matrix labeled SUPPLEMENTAL SERVICES, since resources to supplement or add to programs are located in this matrix. He also has a large minority population in the city, and thus chooses to examine the MINORITY matrix as well.

Step 2: Look under the listing of matrix categories of Exceptionality located on the left side of the matrix, going down the list until the label GT is reached.

Step 3: Write down the catalog number 13.562. Continue the search and locate catalog number 47.009. There are no other Gifted and Talented Programs on the SUPPLEMENTAL SERVICES matrix. 47.009 is the only program listed on the MINORITY matrix.

Step 4: Look under the Applicant listing on the matrix to determine who may apply. Individuals or local agencies may apply; therefore, the director would look at the other matrix categories to see if they fit his/her needs. Scientific Personnel Improvement, 47.009, fits the administrator's specific needs, although 13.562 may also be useful.

Step 5: Alternative descriptors which might fit the director's needs are found under the specific needs descriptor Media/Instructional Materials. The director examines that list on the right side of the matrix (e.g., Minority) and finds the following catalog numbers: 13.403, 13.482, 13.512, 13.530, and 13.536. After checking the program titles and other matrix categories, the director then turns to the Program Descriptions in Section II for more information.

Program Description Example

The program selected in Example 2, 47.009, Scientific Personnel Improvement, is described in Section II of the manual as follows:

FEDERAL AGENCY: National Science Foundation

Catalogue number: 47.009

PROGRAM TITLE: Scientific Personnel Improvement

Contact:
Staff Associate
Division of Scientific Personnel Improvement
National Science Foundation
1800 G St., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20550
Telephone: 202-282-7754

POPULATION

Talented high school and college students showing early promise in education. Participation by women, minorities, and handicapped encouraged.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To help create a more effective supply of scientific manpower by providing a few highly skilled graduate students with resources to pursue their training at the institutions of their choice; encouraging training for research and teaching at all levels; providing research experience to a number of talented high school and college students showing early promise in science; and stimulating more participation in science by women, minorities, and handicapped.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Fellowship and traineeship grants provide for stipends and allowances to be paid to the applicant through his or her institution. A fixed cost-of-education allowance is paid directly to the institution. The recipient must remain a full time student for the duration of the grant. Under other project grants, funds may be used for paying costs necessary to conduct research or studies, such as salaries and wages, expendable equipment and supplies, travel, publication, participant costs, other direct costs, and indirect costs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Project grants

Range of Financial Assistance:	Fellowships: $3,900 stipend plus $3,400 cost of education	Other awards: $7,000 - $55,000 $20,215 - average
Average Financial Assistance:	$20,000

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

Applicants for fellowship support must show evidence of ability such as academic records, letters of recommendation, etc. Institutional proposals must be signed by the principal investigator(s), the relevant department head(s), and by an official authorized to commit the institution in business and financial affairs. Applications are received in Fall for assistance for next academic year. See specific program announcements and NSF "Guide to Science Education Programs," SE-78-1.

GLOSSARY

MATRIX TERMS

CROSS REFERENCE	• a listing of matrix categories in which specific programs can be found.
Administration/Governance	• a matrix category which includes programs having major policy, planning, or broad program development components. Many of these programs require local agencies to apply to a State Agency for funding.
Health/Mental Health/Nutrition	• a matrix category which includes programs focusing on health services (e.g., counseling, development of community health centers, preventive and rehabilitative care, etc.); mental health programs (e.g., community services, counseling, and provision of comprehensive public health services, etc.); or nutritional programs (e.g., food distribution, school breakfast and lunch programs in the area of nutrition, home management, etc.).
Minority	• a matrix category which includes programs focusing on or including major program components for populations such as Indians, low income, migrants, bilingual, disadvantaged, neglected and delinquent, etc.
Training	• a matrix category which includes programs with major personnel training components in education, health fields, research, etc.
Supplemental Services	• a matrix category which includes programs providing additional or complementary resources such as library services, arts, physical fitness, educational innovation, social security, etc.
Research and Development	• a matrix category focusing on research and development as a field or including major research and development components of expanding and otherwise improving services or knowledge.

Career/Vocational Education	• a matrix category which includes programs with major components concerned with the world of work and preparation for work, employability, and ancillary services, including rehabilitation.
EDUCATIONAL LEVEL	• a listing of matrix categories (preschool, primary, secondary, postsecondary, continuing education, adult services) relating to the beneficiary population of a specific program. The category may refer to the educational level or approximate age of that population.
MAJOR FOCUS	• a listing of matrix categories referring to the type of Federal assistance available in each program. Financial Assistance refers to the transfer of funds through the use of grants, contracts, or cooperative agreements to a funded applicant. Technical Assistance refers to the provision of information, advice, or counseling services to a funded applicant. Direct Service refers to the provision of benefits (including financial) from a Federal agency.
APPLICANT	• a listing of matrix categories for individuals or organizations eligible to apply for specific programs of Federal assistance. The list includes Institutions of Higher Education (IHE), individuals, local agencies (including local educational agencies [LEA], local social service agencies, hospitals, etc.), nonprofit or profit organizations or institutions, or state agencies (including state education agencies [SEA], Department of Welfare, Social Services, Department of Corrections, mental health agencies, etc.). If Federal funds are directed through the State, and local application must be made to the State, the matrix is marked with an x under State Agency.

EXCEPTIONALITY

- a listing of matrix categories referring to the beneficiary population. The listing includes the general categories of nonhandicapped and handicapped inclusive (all types of handicapped). The following abbreviations refer to populations of exceptional individuals focused on as beneficiaries for specific programs;

A - Autistic

B - Blind

CD - Communication Disorder

CP - Cerebral Palsy

D - Deaf

DB - Deaf-Blind

DD - Developmentally Disabled

E - Epileptic

ED/BD - Emotionally Disturbed/
Behavior Disordered

GT - Gifted and Talented

HH - Hard of Hearing

HI - Health Impaired

LD - Learning Disabled

MH - Multiply Handicapped

MR - Mentally Retarded

OH - Orthopedically Handicapped

SH - Severely Handicapped

SI - Speech Impaired

PH - Physically Handicapped

VI - Visually Impaired

SPECIFIC NEEDS DESCRIPTORS

Advocacy	● a program component for protection and support of rights.
Benefits	● a program component or allotment for disability, health, retirement, etc., usually a cash assistance.
Bilingual	● a program component to help meet the needs of minority group children from an environment in which the dominant language is other than English.
Career	● a program component which relates to growth and development and the understanding of work, employment, and ancillary services.

Diagnostic/Placement	● a program component relating to evaluation (educational, psychological, vocational, etc.) and placement services.

Employment	• a program component relating to the acquisition of jobs or job skills.
Environmental	• a program component that supports the development of educational processes dealing with man's relationship with his natural and man-made surroundings (populations, pollution, resource allocation and depletion, conservation, transportation, technology, etc.).
Evaluation - Program	• a program component that includes assessment of objectives/goals and/or the attainment of said objectives/goals; often evaluation is used to monitor program impact.
Finance	• a program component relating to the study or use of fiscal resources.
Health Services	• a program component focusing on services such as counseling, development of community health services, preventive and rehabilitative care, mental health, etc.
Identification	• a program component to facilitate locating eligible beneficiaries.
Indian	• a program component directed toward individuals of American Indian or Alaskan Native descent.
Instruction	• a program component focusing on the delivery of education.
Low Income	• a program component directed toward the economically disadvantaged.
Library	• a program component directed toward the use or expansion of library services.
Media/Instructional Materials	• a program component focusing on the purchase and/or use of technology, software, and hardware.
Migrants	• a program component directed toward individuals and members of their families who for reasons of their employment are seasonal workers and/or move from place to place.

Mobility Training	• a program component directed toward the development of mental and physical orientation to facilitate an individual's ability to move about.
Model Programs/Demonstration	• a program component focusing on the development of new and innovative programs for replication or demonstration.
Neglected or Delinquent	• a program component directed toward children in need of supervision whether by parents, guardians, or State.
Nutrition	• a program component focusing on food distribution, school breakfast and lunch programs, or educational programs in the area of nutrition.
Occupational Therapy	• a program component focusing on engaging individuals or groups in activities designed to enhance physical, social, psychological, and cognitive growth or development.
Parent/Family Services	• a program component designed to benefit the family unit.
Personnel and Training	• a program component directed toward inservice or preservice preparation and other personnel development or services.
Physical Education	• a program component focusing on engaging individuals or groups in the provision of activities or the development of curriculum dealing with meaningful, muscular movement.
Physical Therapy	• a program component focusing on the development of motor performance through correction, development, and prevention.
Policy Analysis	• a program component directed toward the understanding and development of rules, regulations, and law.
Procedural Safeguards	• a program component designed to insure that the rights of the individual are protected.

Professional Rights/Responsibilities	• a program component addressing the moral, legal, and ethical requirements of various professions.
Program Accessibility	• a program component focusing on the issue of the right of availability of programs to all individuals.
Recreation	• a program component designed to provide leisure time activities both structured and unstructured.
Referrals/Information	• a program component designed to assist individuals in finding appropriate resources.
Refugees	• a program component designed to aid individuals that have sought asylum in the United States.
Rehabilitation	• a program component designed to facilitate or develop a variety of services to assist individuals in overcoming handicaps, especially in preparation for vocational employment.
Research Component	• a program component designed to expand and otherwise improve services or knowledge.
Resources/Dissemination	• a program component designed to facilitate the collection and/or communication of programs, services, materials, etc.
Social/Cultural	• a program component designed to develop interactive skills, knowledge, and/or awareness of human interactions, arts and humanities, etc.
Speech and Language	• a program component dealing with the development and remediation of oral and/or non-vocal communication.
Transportation	• a program component designed to facilitate program accessibility through the use of transportation.
Vocational Education	• a program component designed to prepare individuals for employment or work.

Welfare	• a program component designed to provide service for beneficiaries receiving or eligible for public assistance.

SECTION II

PROGRAM DESCRIPTIONS

FEDERAL AGENCY: Department of Agriculture

Catalogue number: 10.550

PROGRAM TITLE: Food Distribution

Contact: Director
Food Distribution Division
Food and Nutrition Service
Department of Agriculture
500 12th St., S.W.
Rm. 610
Washington, D.C. 20250
Telephone: 202-447-8371

POPULATION

Families, all children in schools, child care institutions, and persons in nutrition programs for the elderly and in summer camps.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To improve diets of school children, infants, and young children.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Food is made available for distribution to qualifying households, individuals, schools, charitable institutions, nutrition programs for the elderly, and summer camps and to support the supplemental feeding program for women, infants, and children. Households and individuals may not be charged; assessments for in-State distribution costs may be made against other beneficiaries. Donated foods may not be sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of (authorized distribution excepted) without prior, specific approval of the Department. Funds must be expended to assist in meeting operating expenses incurred in administering food distribution programs for needy persons in households. These funds may not be used to purchase real property (land or buildings).

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Formula grants
Sale, Exchange, or Donation of Property and Goods
Range and Average of Financial Assistance not applicable

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

State Plan of operation for programs for individuals and agencies must be forwarded to the department for approval. Individuals apply to approved health facilities; heads of households apply to local welfare authorities on forms supplied by State or local office.

Local governments, schools, other child feeding programs, nonprofit summer camps for children, charitable institutions, and nutrition programs for the elderly must apply to State distributing agency on its forms.

Public schools in all States make application to the State educational agency. Appropriate forms may be obtained from this agency. Nonprofit private schools should also apply to the State educational agency. In some States, however, the State educational agency is prohibited by State statute from disbursing Federal funds to nonprofit private schools. In such instances, the application will be referred to the appropriate Food and Nutrition Service regional office. This program is subject to the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-110.

FEDERAL AGENCY: Department of Agriculture

Catalogue number: 10.553

PROGRAM TITLE: School Breakfast Program

Contact: Director
School Programs Division
Food and Nutrition Service
Department of Agriculture
Washington, D.C. 20250
Telephone: 202-447-8130

POPULATION

Children of high school grade and under in attendance at participating schools.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To assist states in providing nutritious breakfasts for school children, through cash grants and food donations.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Federally appropriated school breakfast program funds are available to reimburse participating public and nonprofit private schools, of high school grade or under, for breakfasts, meeting the nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture, served to eligible children. Participating schools are reimbursed at rates not less than those shown in the Formula and Matching Requirements Section. The rates of reimbursement are adjusted on a semiannual basis to reflect changes in the series of food away from home of the Consumer Price Index. For the period January 1, 1978, through June 30, 1978, the rates of reimbursement are 11.50 cents for all breakfasts, an additional 21.75 cents for each reduced price breakfast, and an additional 28.75 cents for each free breakfast. In cases of severe need, a payment of up to 45.25 cents and 50.25 cents may be made for each breakfast served to children qualifying respectively for a reduced price and a free breakfast. All participating schools must agree to supply free and reduced price meals to eligible children and to operate the program on a nonprofit basis for all children without regard to race, color, national origin, or the ability to pay.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Formula grants
Sale, Exchange, or Donation of Property and Goods
Average Financial Assistance: 38.70 cents per meal

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

State and U.S. Territory agencies and private schools and residential child care centers, and settlement houses which are exempt from income tax under the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, may apply. PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To support a disease control program designed to contribute to national protection against diseases or conditions of national significance which are amenable to reduction, including tuberculosis, rubella, measles, poliomyelitis, diptheria, tetanus, pertussis, mumps, venereal disease and other communicable diseases, arthritis, diabetes, hypertension, pulmonary diseases, cardiovascular diseases, and RH disease. At the present time funds are available only for venereal disease prevention and control, and the control of vaccine preventable diseases.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

An approvable project must provide: (a) a plan to initiate and maintain surveillance of the communicable diseases with respect to which funds are granted, which will include, among other things, morbidity and mortality reporting, surveys, and case and laboratory investigation; (b) coordination with other relevant Federally assisted programs; (c) arrangements for utilization of facilities of public and private hospital outpatient clinics; (d) assurance that the project will be conducted in a manner calculated to preserve human dignity and maximize acceptability and utilization of services; (e) assurance that services will be made available without regard to creed, age, sex, or marital status unless otherwise medically indicated; (f) assurance that no person will be denied service by reason of his ability to pay therefor, provided, however, that to the extent that payment for services under the project will be made by a third party (including a government agency) which is authorized or is under a legal obligation to pay such charge, effort will be made to obtain such third party payment. If charges are to be made for services under the project plan: (g) assurance that funds granted will be used to supplement and not supplant State or local funds available for communicable disease control programs; (h) priority in the delivery of services to population groups having the highest incidence and prevalence of communicable diseases. Unallowable Costs: Project funds may not be used for providing diagnostic and treatment services unless the applicant establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that funds for such services are necessary for the proper conduct of the project and are otherwise unavailable. PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

An individual National Research Service Award provides support to individuals for predoctoral and postdoctoral research training in specified mental health related areas; and an Institutional National Research Service Grant provides support and enables nonprofit institutions to develop research training opportunities for individuals interested in careers in a particular specified mental health related field.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Individual awards are made to fellows seeking predoctoral or postdoctoral support for full-time research training in biomedical/behavioral shortage areas. An institutional allowance of up to $3,000 will be provided, upon request, to the sponsoring institution for each awardee. In addition, any domestic public or nonprofit institution may apply for an institutional research training award in a specified area of research from which a number of stipend awards will be made to individuals selected by the training program director at the institution. Support is available for both pre- and postdoctoral trainees. Actual tuition and fees are allowable for trainees. An additional amount of up to 25 percent of the total trainee costs may be requested for related institutional costs. Under NRS awards, individuals can be supported for up to a maximum of 3 years. Stipends are currently $3,900 (predoctoral) and $10,000 - $14,000 (postdoctoral) dependent upon the number of years of relevant experience. Research training support may not be used for intern or other clinical training.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

	Postdoctoral stipends	- $10,000 - $14,000
Average Financial Assistance:	Predoctoral stipends	- $3,900
	Postdoctoral stipends	- $12,000

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

Support is provided for predoctoral and postdoctoral academic and research training only, in health and health-related priority areas which are specified by the National Institute of Mental Health and include child mental health, depression and suicide, schizophrenia, brain and behavior, psychoactive drugs, crime and delinquency, aging, minorities, program evaluation, and mental health services management. (See Preapplication Coordination.) For postdoctoral support, individuals with a professional or scientific degree are eligible (M.D., Ph.D., D.D.S., D.O., D.V.M., Sc.D., D. Eng., or equivalent domestic or foreign degree). Proposed study must result in research training in specified shortage areas, and may offer opportunity to research health scientists, research clinicians, etc. to broaden their scientific background, or to extend their potential for research in health related areas. Applicants must be citizens of the United States, or be admitted to the United States for permanent residency; they also must be nominated and sponsored by a public or private nonprofit institution having staff and facilities suitable to the proposed research training. All fellows must meet a payback requirement through approved research oriented work, or by repayment of funds based on a formula which gives one-half credit for approved work completed. Standard application forms must be used.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To promote a national program for physical fitness for Americans of all ages by encouraging the development, implementation, and improvement of physical fitness programs at all levels of responsibility, accomplished through the provision of professional consultation, technical assistance publications and public information, program evaluation and development to school systems, government agencies, employee organizations, industrial organizations, recreation and park departments, and others who wish to introduce or to improve physical fitness programs.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Professional consultation and technical assistance in the design, development and implementation of physical fitness programs and programs designed to expand exercise and sports participation opportunities. The limitations are fundamentally those imposed by the comparatively small size of the professional staff of the Council; in addition, the Council does not render this service to organizations for whom physical fitness is a commercial interest. The consultation includes analysis of requirements, fitness program development, advice as to facilities needs, knowledge of appropriate equipment, including quality and certain limited inservice training of the personnel through institutes and physical fitness clinics. Information material includes pamphlets, program publications, newsletters and annually, two public service advertising campaigns stressing youth and adult physical fitness. The Council has developed publications on youth, adult, and senior citizens' physical fitness activities which are available from the Council and/or the Government Printing Office. The public service advertising campaigns include TV, radio, and printed material.

Contact: Director, Division of Mental Health Services Programs
National Institute of Mental Health, ADAMHA
5600 Fishers Lane
Rockville, Maryland 20857
Telephone: 301-443-3606

POPULATION

All persons who reside in the designated area have priority for services.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To provide comprehensive mental health services through a community mental health center via five grant programs: staffing, planning grants, grants for initial operations, consultation and education services, conversion grants, and financial distress grants. The comprehensive services which centers must provide are: inpatient, outpatient, day care, and other partial hospitalization services and emergency services; specialized services for the mental health of children; specialized services for the mental health of the elderly; consultation and education services; assistance to courts and other public agencies in screening catchment area residents considered for referral for inpatient treatment in a State mental health facility; follow-up care for catchment area residents discharged from a mental health facility; transitional halfway house services for catchment area residents discharged from mental health facilities or who would require inpatient care without such halfway house services; unless there is insufficient need, or the need is otherwise being met, specialized programs for the prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation of alcohol and drug abusers, alcoholics and drug addicts.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Planning grants are awarded to assess area needs for mental health services, design a CMHC program, obtain financial and professional assistance and support for the program, and encourage community involvement. Maximum support is $75,000. Grants for Initial Operations provide up to 8 years of financial support (on a decreasing, deficit basis) for centers meeting all requirements. Support for centers in poverty areas is provided at a higher level of funding. Existing centers may opt to receive staffing grant support under former provisions of the CMHC Act, but must provide all required services within 2 years. Grants for Consultation and Education Services begin with the fifth year of a center's operation unless the Secretary determines that C&E services could not be provided in the third and fourth year without such a grant. Grants may be made to non-Federally funded centers which are providing all other required services. Conversion grants may be provided for a maximum of 2 years to centers funded under the former Act to enable them to provide additional services mandated by this legislation.

Financial distress grants may be provided for up to 3 years to centers whose original staffing or operations grants have terminated because of statutory limits as to funding period and which demonstrate that without such support they would have significant reduction in quality of services or be unable to provide all required services. Staffing grants provide funds on a matching basis for salaries of professional and technical personnel providing new services within a community mental health center. Only support for continuation grants is available. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered suitable for joint funding with closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. POPULATION

Eligibility for vocational rehabilitation services is based on the presence of a physical or mental disability, the existence of a substantial handicap to employment, and a reasonable expectation that VR services may render the individual fit to engage in a gainful occupation.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To provide vocational rehabilitation services to persons with mental and physical handicaps. Priority service is placed on needs of those persons with the most severe disabilities.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Federal and State funds are used to cover the costs of providing rehabilitation services which include diagnosis, comprehensive evaluation, counseling, training reader services for the blind, interpreter services for the deaf, and employment placement. Funds are also used to assist with payment for medical and related services; prosthetic and orthotic devices; transportation to secure vocational rehabilitation services; maintenance during rehabilitation; tools, licenses, equipment, supplies, and other goods and services; vending stands for handicapped persons including management and supervisory services; and construction and establishment of rehabilitation facilities. Services are provided to families of handicapped individuals when such services will contribute substantially to the rehabilitation of such individuals who are being provided vocational rehabilitation services. POPULATION

Anyone who feels discriminated against in the manner outlined on page 338 OMB.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To enforce Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits Federal funds for programs that discriminate as to race, color, or national origin in Federally funded programs and activities; Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; the anti-sex discrimination provisions of the Comprehensive Health Manpower and Nurse Training Act of 1971, and the prohibition of discrimination against the handicapped, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is responsible for assuring that HEW beneficiaries of Federally assisted programs receive benefits without discrimination. These benefits are provided through State agencies, school districts, nursing homes, skilled nursing facilities, medical laboratories, hospitals, colleges and universities, vocational centers, libraries, educational broadcasting facilities, day care centers and social service agencies, and recipients of Federal construction and non-construction contracts. Any person who believes that he or she has been discriminated against in the provision of these services as to sex, race, color, religion, national origin, handicap, or age, may file a complaint of grievance with the Office for Civil Rights, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Office will investigate and take corrective steps to assure equal opportunity. Individuals may also file complaints of discrimination in education programs or activities receiving Federal financial assistance. The Office investigates patterns of discrimination and practices affecting classes of employees to ensure that Federal contractors and subcontractors do not practice discrimination in employment on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, handicap, or age and that they take affirmative action to ensure that employees are treated without regard to such factors. Individual complaints about employment discrimination should be made to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

POPULATION

All employers seeking workers, persons seeking employment, community groups, and employer organizations. Priority in service is given to veterans, with handicapped veterans receiving preferential treatment over other veterans.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To place persons in employment by providing a variety of placement related services to job seekers and to employers seeking qualified individuals to fill job openings.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

The United States Employment Service and its affiliated State agencies operate over 2,500 local offices to serve persons seeking or needing employment and employers seeking workers. The employment service is currently enhancing its placement capability by using computer technology to assist in matching applicants with job openings. General services to job seekers include outreach, interviewing, testing, counseling, and referral to employment opportunities. Also, employment service staff in the local offices may be able to refer job seekers in need of specialized training or supportive services to local, State, or Federal offices that are able to provide such services. General services to employers include providing a source of qualified applicants for job openings within the local area or, if necessary, nationwide, and providing selected technical assistance in identifying and resolving internal workforce problems such as turnover, absenteeism, and special recruitment difficulties as well as assisting in the development of personnel management tools. The Employment Service system also provides specialized services which include: (1) Emphasis of services to special applicant groups such as veterans, migrant and seasonal farmworkers, handicapped job seekers, disadvantaged job seekers, youth, minorities, and older workers. This includes special emphasis on counseling and assisting such workers to overcome barriers to employment which are unrelated to job performance. (2) Job information service and labor market information. Job seekers and employers may obtain information pertaining to job opportunities, labor supply, labor market trends, the job market situation in particular industries, the employment potential of unemployed workers, and programs aimed at resolving these problems.
(3) Certification of eligibility for rural business and development loans. The Employment Service provides certification to the Farmers Home Administration that rural loans or grants for business or community development will not have an adverse effect on the labor market or economy of the area where the business or community is located. Details of the program are found in program 10.422 of this Catalog. (4) Trade readjustment assistance. The International Labor Affairs Bureau is the certifying authority for workers and businesses who claim to have been adversely affected by United States foreign trade policies. That process is described in program 17.400 of this catalog. Workers who have been laid off by firms which have been certified as adversely affected by foreign imports may receive specialized reemployment assistance and referral to training and supportive services from local employment service staff. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered suitable for joint funding with closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. For programs that are not identified as suitable for joint funding, the applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To assist young men and women who need and can benefit from an intensive educational and vocational training program in order to become more responsible, employable, and productive citizens. The program is operated in a residential group setting.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Job Corps contractors operate residential centers to serve low income young men and women, ages 16-21, who require additional education, training, or intensive counseling to secure and hold meaningful employment, participate successfully in regular schoolwork, qualify for other training programs suitable to their needs, or satisfy Armed Forces requirements. Job Corps contributes to the development and dissemination of techniques for assisting the disadvantaged that can be utilized by public and private institutions and agencies. Corpsmembers receive a comprehensive program of basic and remedial education, vocational training, work experience, and personal and vocational counseling. Corpsmembers are given room and board, medical and dental services, work and casual clothing, and a monthly allowance for living expenses. A readjustment payment is made upon completion of at least six months of training, and job placement assistance is provided. Maximum enrollment is 2 years.

Title II D: economically disadvantaged and unemployed 15 or more weeks or on welfare. Title IV: YCCIP--Youth, 16-19 years of age, who are in school or out of school and unemployed. Preference is given to out-of-school young people who experience severe problems in finding employment. YETP--Youth who are 14-21 years of age, in school and are unemployed or underemployed and who have severe handicaps in obtaining employment. SYEP--In-school and out-of-school youth, 14-21 years of age. Youth applying for participation in these programs must meet the criteria for economically disadvantaged lower living standard level. Title VI: Unemployed 10 of the last 12 weeks or on welfare, and whose family income does not exceed 100 percent of the BLS lower living standard budget. All programs under the Act limited in duration to two and one-half years in a five year period.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To provide job training and employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged, unemployed, and underemployed persons and to assure that training and other services lead to maximum employment opportunities and enhance self sufficiency by establishing a flexible and decentralized system of Federal, State, and local programs.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Title I: This program is directed to providing training and employment opportunities to the unemployed, underemployed, and disadvantaged. Program activities include classroom training, on-the-job training, public service employment, work experience, services to participants, and other allowable activities. Competitively selected Title I prime sponsors are operating Skill Training Improvement Programs (STIP) under Title III, Section 304. The STIP program is designed to improve the level and quality of skill training under CETA and to provide upgrading opportunities. Training is aimed at meeting industry needs for specific skills with emphasis on increasing private sector participation in CETA training. Public Service Employment is subject to the restrictions under Titles II and VI. In addition to prime sponsor allocations, specific funds are allocated to governors for: (1) State vocational education agencies to provide their services to prime sponsor areas; (2) costs incurred in staffing and servicing State manpower services councils; and (3) provision of Statewide manpower services. Title II: This program provides transitional employment to unemployed or underemployed persons residing in areas of high unemployment in jobs which must provide public service. Eighty-five percent of the funds made available must be used to pay wages and fringe benefits to participants. The remaining fifteen percent of funds may be used for administration and for supplies, equipment, and materials to be used in the program. Title II funds may be used to finance Title I program activities, in which case most Title II restrictions do not apply. Title VI: This program is directed to providing temporary public service employment for unemployed persons. In addition to public service employment positions this program provides for public service projects which will employ long term unemployed, low income persons.

State colleges and universities, public, private, junior, and community colleges. State and local government organizations and individuals capable of fulfilling the objectives of the programs. There are no formal guidelines or conditions performers must meet other than that they have demonstrated financial responsibility and competence to fulfill the terms of the contract or grant.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To support employment and training studies to develop policy and programs for achieving the fullest utilization of the nation's human resources; to improve and strengthen the functioning of the nation's Employment and Training System; to develop new approaches to facilitate employment of the difficult to employ; and to conduct research and development addressing the employment implications of long term social and economic trends and forces.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

(1) Research projects are for the purpose of development of employment and training knowledge with special emphasis on generalized policy and program applications. Studies may be limited to special areas only where they can be shown to provide a basis for generalized conclusions or to have application over a wide area. (2) Although service is not the primary function of experimental and demonstration projects, the demonstration population participating in them receives services specific to the project design. Projects focus on distinctive training or employment problems which are not being met effectively by established employment and training service programs and seek to determine how to meet such problems through new techniques. Funds can be used to finance all operating costs required by specified project designs (such as administrative placement). (3) Experimental and demonstration funds are concentrated on developing new techniques which might significantly guide overall policy and programing. They are not available to extend methods developed in some areas or occupations (even though such projects might have distinctive elements and be useful for the particular area), or to make up for what essentially are inadequacies in the level of resources available for employment and training programs. Research and development projects facilitating the implementation of CETA State and local employment and training program operations are encouraged. Such projects should be of general applicability.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To employ youth, age 16-19, in well supervised work with a tangible output which will be of benefit to the community. Preference will be given to those youth who are economically disadvantaged.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

This program is directed to providing economically disadvantaged youth, age 16-19, with well supervised employment which will result in tangible benefit to the community. The work itself is the source of training, with academic credit for job experiences encouraged wherever appropriate. The participation of neighborhood and community based organizations is stressed. The program places predominant emphasis on the development and provision of jobs. Fifteen percent of funds are available for carrying out programs under YEDPA (Sec. 351). A small portion of these funds are available to the Secretary for discretionary projects authorized under Section 348 of YEDPA. PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To establish programs designed to make a significant long term impact on the structural unemployment problems of youth; to enhance job prospects and career opportunities of young persons, including employment, community service opportunities, and such training and supportive services as are necessary to enable participants to secure suitable appropriate unsubsidized employment in the public and private sectors of the economy.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Title III: This program is directed to providing training and employment opportunities to young persons, especially disadvantaged youth. In addition, this program explores methods of dealing with the structural unemployment problems of youth and immediate difficulties of youth in need of and unable to find jobs. As specified in Title 29, Part 97.716(a) in the Code of Federal Regulations, programs may include any type of employment and training activity authorized under Title I of the Act, except public service employment. Seventy percent of funds are available for carrying out the provisions of YEDPA legislation. Some discretionary funds will be used for innovative and demonstration programs, and the National Occupational Information Coordinating Committee. Title III, Section 351(a): This program is directed to providing training and employment opportunities to unemployed, underemployed, and disadvantaged youth. In addition to useful work experience opportunities in community betterment activities, other appropriate training and services such as outreach, counseling, occupational information, education-to-work transition, institutional and on-the-job training, job restructuring, and child care services may be provided. Also specific funds allocated to Governors may be used for one or more of the following: (1) to support expanded and experimental programs in apprenticeship trades, or development of new apprenticeship arrangements with business and labor unions; (2) to carry out special model and experimental model employment and training programs and related services between appropriate State agencies and eligible applicant(s); (3) to provide labor market and occupational information to eligible applicants and local educational agencies without

POPULATION

All economically disadvantaged 16-19-year-olds who reside in selected geographic areas, are already in school or return to school, and apply for this opportunity.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

The program is designed as a national experiment to (1) test whether school-year (part time) and summer (full time) jobs can be guaranteed for all 16-19-year-old economically disadvantaged youth residing in a designated area who are in secondary school or who are willing to return to school or enroll in a course leading to a certificate of high school equivalency; (2) determine the proportion of eligible youth who will seek such jobs; (3) assess whether employment will be an incentive to increase high school retention, return, and completion; and (4) to ascertain the longer term impacts of the entitlement experience on the earnings of program participants subsequent to their completing or otherwise leaving high school.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

This experimental program operated through CETA Title I prime sponsors, guarantees employment opportunities that include: part time employment or training during the school year averaging 20 hours per week for no less than 6 nor more than 9 months, and/or full time summer employment for at least 8 weeks, or not more than 40 hours per week. The program operates at competitively selected sites only. Sites are chosen from areas with differing socioeconomic and regional circumstances, such as differing unemployment rates, school dropout rates, urban and rural variations, size, and other factors. The entitlement program guarantees a job and/or training for all economically disadvantaged 16-19 year olds who (1) reside in selected geographic areas; (2) are already in school or return to school; and (3) apply for this opportunity. The primary objective is to encourage high school retention, return, and completion which, combined with useful work experience and exposure to occupational information, will help improve future labor market success. Fifteen percent of the funds are available to carry out YEDPA. Under this program, the Secretary has discretionary authority to select project sites and the number of projects to be funded.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To provide loans and loan guarantees for nonprofit sheltered workshops and other similar organizations to enable them to produce and provide marketable goods and services; and to assist in the establishment, acquisition, or operation of a small business owned by handicapped individuals.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

HAL-1 (nonprofit organizations) loan proceeds may be used for working capital and construction of facilities if a construction grant is not available from other Government sources. No loan may be used for training, education, housing, or other supportive services for handicapped employees. HAL-2 (small business concerns) loans are to be used for construction, expansion, or conversion of facilities; to purchase building, equipment, or materials; and for working capital. Excludes speculation, publishing media, nonprofit enterprises, speculators in property, lending, or investment. For both HAL-1 and HAL-2, loans must be of such sound value and security so as to assure reasonable repayment.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Direct Loans
Guaranteed/Insured Loans

Range of Financial Assistance:	$15,000 - $350,000 (Direct) $315,000 - $346,500 (Guaranteed)
Average Financial Assistance:	$69,180 (Direct) $256,000 (Guaranteed)

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

For nonprofit organizations (HAL-1), must be organized under the laws of the State, or of the United States, as a nonprofit organization operating in the interest of handicapped individuals and must employ handicapped individuals for not less than 75% of the man-hours required for the direct production of commodities or in the provision of services which it renders. For HAL-2 (small business concerns), must be independently owned and operated, not dominant in its field, meet SBA size standards, and be 100% owned by handicapped individuals. Handicap must be of such a nature as to limit the individual in engaging in normal competitive business practices without SBA assistance. Applications are filed in the field office serving the territory in which the applicant is located. Where the participating bank is in another territory, applications may be accepted and processed by the field office servicing that territory, provided there is mutual agreement between the two field offices involved.
